

Girl's Volleyball: "The Warhawk Way"

"The Warhawk Way" is a point-based behavior and character development system used to motivate our student-athletes and team managers to live up to their potential as citizens, students, and peers. The system relies on high expectations, responsibility, and commitment. We believe it is a privilege for our athletes to wear the Madison jersey, and we expect their actions to match that belief.

General Rules

- All athletes begin with ZERO points.
- If an athlete reaches THREE points, she will sit for 12 points in the next match. After this punitive action, the athlete returns to ZERO points.
- If an athlete reaches THREE points a second time, she will sit for the entire next match. After this punitive action, the athlete once again returns to ZERO points.
- If an athlete reaches THREE points a third time, she will sit for 2 full matches. By this time, communication with parents will have taken place.
- All team managers will be held to the point system as well. Team managers will not be allowed to attend 1 practice after receiving THREE points. If a team manager receives a 2nd THREE point warning, they will miss attending one game. If a team manager receives a 3rd THREE point warning they will no longer be allowed to be a team manager.

Behavior Point Values

Email from teacher outlining behavior concern in classroom or hallway.	1 Point
Coach Horina, Coach Hylek, Coach Weber, or Coach DeGraff witnesses inappropriate behavior in class or hallway	1 Point
Appears on eligibility list for the first time (Any further action regarding eligibility is out of the coaches hands)	1 Point
Misses Practice (with NO excuse or communication from athlete)	3 Points
Discipline from teacher or administration resulting in detention	2 Points
Unsportsmanlike behavior during game	1 Point

Behaviors and point values may change after re-evaluation of system. As with any good behavior system, we will take into account extenuating circumstances, extended absences due to illness, or other unforeseen events.*