Outsourcing Issue

At the last meeting a question arose about outsourcing. Robb Cooper, Ottosen, Britz, Kelly, Cooper, & Gilbert, LTD was present to explain the statute found in the Illinois School Code that came into being in 2007. If a school district decides to sub contract work that is performed by an employee, there is a long and difficult process that has to be followed in order to be able to outsource. There are many stipulations including the fact that any contract would have to have expired prior to beginning the process. The process is extensive, cumbersome, and the cost savings are not likely to be great because of the costs involved. Completion takes about nine months to one year.

School Improvement Plans and Executive Summaries

Kathy Duncan noted that the documentation provided to the Board from all the schools is representative of a significant amount of hard work done at each building. Teams of staff members analyze what has been done and work to determine the best next steps for the students. Teachers and school administrators attend a data spa to look at the direction of the school. School Improvement Plans are meant to be a living document that is understood and implemented at each school. Plans are written by staff at each building with central office staff working in and among them to help. The plans are sent to the curriculum department for review and clarified back at the building if needed. Once complete they will be shared with the school community.

This agreement is a continuation of one that is already in place and is not meant to negatively reflect on the Park District.
